

A photograph of a forest at sunset or sunrise. The scene is bathed in a warm, golden light from a low sun on the horizon. A large, dark tree trunk stands prominently in the foreground, silhouetted against the bright sky. The background shows a dense forest of trees, their branches and leaves also silhouetted against the glowing light. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy
LOBGESANG